

SUSAGNA GUARDIOLA

Training profile

She teaches consecutive and simultaneous interpreting (French-Spanish and Catalan) to undergraduates and Master's students.

Professional profile

B.A. in Translation and Interpreting from the Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona. Master's Degree in Conference Interpreting from the University of Vic and the University of Salford (UK). Professional development courses at Glendon College (York University, Canada) and training courses for interpretation teachers at the Middlebury Institute of International Studies at Monterey (USA) and at the European Commission's Directorate-General for Interpretation.

She has been an active professional interpreter since 2000 for political institutions, cultural institutions (including CCCB, IEMED, Institut Ramon Llull, Teatre Lliure), academic institutions (including UAB, UOC, UdG), professional associations, and the private sector. She has interpreted mostly in Spain and France but also elsewhere in Europe and Asia.